Tokyo Marathon EXPO 2027 Outline

The Tokyo Marathon EXPO 2027 will be held at Tokyo Big Sight prior to the Tokyo Marathon 2027 over a 3-day period: March 4 (Thur.), 5 (Fri.), and 6 (Sat.), 2027.

As the event marks the milestone 20th anniversary of the Tokyo Marathon, we return to our roots by setting our focus on the potential that belongs to each and every single “point” as individuals. We will roll out various initiatives that ensure that runners, volunteers, supporters, and everyone behind the scenes in the event will fully personify the concept of “The Day We Unite.”

Joining with this vision, the Tokyo Marathon EXPO 2027 has chosen the concept of “UNITE FROM HERE! – THE 20th HUB –.” This year’s event will serve as a “hub” where everyone involved—participants, marathon fans, general visitors, and supporters—can gather to celebrate this landmark 20th anniversary while building an atmosphere of anticipation and excitement.

Essentially a “three-day pre-event celebration,” we look forward to standing alongside our exhibitors to make this event a huge success. We are preparing this EXPO to be highly engaging, where visitors can experience the excitement of the upcoming race and have a truly enjoyable time.

We are on the lookout for exhibitors who will showcase running-related businesses and running-centric city promotion, as well as products, services, publications, etc. that will be beneficial to runners and visitors.

We hope to see participation from enterprises and groups of various genres that allow visitors to take center stage and enjoy the event regardless of age, gender, nationality, running experience, etc. This exhibition will be open to the general public, so whether you’re joining as an exhibitor or a visitor, we look forward to seeing you at our event!

Tokyo Marathon EXPO 2027 Zoning

In order to reduce visitor congestion, this year's venue will be laid out in a "Free Flow" layout.

We will create an environment that allows visitors to walk around the venue in all directions, reducing the stress caused by congestion.

Exhibition Conditions

At the Tokyo Marathon EXPO 2027, we look forward to “exhibitions of various genres.”

With the aim of enhancing the value of the “Tokyo Marathon EXPO” experience for visitors, we will limit the maximum number of sales booths to 16 and focus on featuring sports-related manufacturers, including those specializing in running shoes, apparel, and wearable devices.

Our goal is to create an EXPO that offers all visitors new discoveries and experiences by providing ample opportunities to explore top domestic and international brands as well as the latest products and technologies. For other booths, we broadly invite manufacturers and companies in the running sports industry, offering running-related promotions, or providing products, services, and publications that are beneficial to runners and visitors.

●Exhibition Area

The Exhibition Area for the Tokyo Marathon EXPO 2027 will be divided into an Official Partners Area and a General Exhibitor Area.

Official Partners Area

Exhibitions by the Official Partners and co-organizers of the Tokyo Marathon 2027, as well as associations affiliated with the Tokyo Marathon.

General Exhibitors Area

Exhibitions by enterprises and organizations entered by general applications.
*Competitors will not be excluded from this area.

【IMPORTANT】For Exhibitors Planning In-Booth Sales / Payments

Fully Cashless Payment System

To reduce checkout congestion, ensure safe and smooth venue operations, and improve convenience for both domestic and international visitors, Tokyo Marathon EXPO 2027 will implement a fully cashless payment system within the venue.

Accordingly, all exhibitors conducting sales or payment operations at their booths are required to support fully cashless transactions as a mandatory condition for participation. We greatly appreciate your understanding and cooperation.

*Cashless payment refers to non-cash payment methods: Credit / Debit Cards | E-Money | QR Code Payments

*You are not required to adopt all of the payment methods listed above. Please select and implement at least one method to exhibit.

【Exhibition Requirements and Operational Rules】

1. Payment Methods

If sales or payment operations will occur at your booth, please arrange a non-cash payment method (such as a cashless payment terminal) in advance.

2. Payment Terminal Rental

For exhibitors who do not have their own payment devices, the organizer offers free rentals of payment terminals designated by Mastercard, the Official Payment Partner.

*We plan to lend Square Terminal devices to exhibitors. Please click here for more details.

(https://squareup.com/gb/en/hardware/terminal?country_redirection=true)

*Please note that the model of the payment terminal provided may be subject to change depending on application conditions.

*Only terminal devices will be provided.

Exhibitors are required to set up their own network/internet connection.

*Details regarding the application process will be provided at the Exhibitors' Briefing.

3. Communication / Network Setup

Exhibitors are responsible for preparing the necessary communication environment required to operate their payment terminals.

Please note that optional paid internet connection services are also available upon request.

Further details will be included in the materials distributed at the Exhibitors' Briefing.

● Precautions about the Venue's Network Connection

Although there were no network connection issues during last year's Tokyo Marathon EXPO 2026, an increase in the number of visitors and the amount of equipment used by booth operators in the future may lead to radio frequency interference and network congestion, which could affect the network environment.

We ask all exhibitors to review the following risks and recommended measures and make the necessary preparations.

● Issues Affecting Network Connectivity

Within the venue, severe radio interference may occur when multiple wireless signals (such as those listed below) are concentrated in a confined space.

*Radio waves brought in by visitors: smartphone tethering, mobile Wi-Fi routers, Bluetooth devices (such as wireless earbuds), etc.

*Venue-provided wireless networks: Tokyo Big Sight's free Wi-Fi, etc.

*Signals at each exhibition booth: Wi-Fi brought in by exhibitors, wireless transmission systems for video, audio, and lighting, etc.

【Recommended】

If you connect payment terminals or other devices wirelessly (such as via Wi-Fi), interference may cause the connection to become unstable. If a reliable communication environment is a priority, we recommend considering a wired LAN connection as an option.

● Risks Involved in Different POS (Cash Register) Types

5 GHz-compatible devices [Recommended]

Although this standard is relatively resistant to congestion, the connection may become unstable due to obstructions such as walls or people.

2.4 GHz-compatible devices [Not Recommended]

Because the radio waves may overlap with those from home appliances, Bluetooth devices, and other sources, interference could render the device "virtually unusable."

Devices that use mobile networks (4G, 5G, etc.)

With tens of thousands of visitors expected, there is a risk that the mobile carriers' base stations themselves could become overloaded (due to network congestion), resulting in a loss of service.

● Optional Internet Connection Services

As a general rule, the Internet service we provide will operate on the "5 GHz band."

● Disclaimer (Important Notice)

Please be aware that neither the EXPO Office nor the Organizer can accept any responsibility for the matters listed below.

Regarding Network Connectivity

The Internet connection service we provide utilizes a best-effort service offered by telecommunications carriers and Internet service providers. Therefore, we cannot guarantee connection speeds or provide any compensation for connection failures or provider outages (including communication failures caused by wireless LAN congestion).

Regarding Mobile Networks

Although we have not received any reports of connectivity issues with the venue to date, there is a possibility of temporary service interruptions due to network congestion or other factors. Neither the EXPO Office nor the Organizer assumes any responsibility for communication failures on carrier networks.

Regarding Security Issues

The Organizer (EXPO Office) assumes no responsibility for any damage resulting from PC or other device malfunctions, defects, computer virus infections, unauthorized access, or other issues arising from Internet use. We recommend that each exhibitor implement security measures—such as OS updates and antivirus software—as well as measures to prevent data leaks in advance.
